ON-FARM ANALYSIS

Sarah works with the Heritage agronomy team and our customers to provide on-farm conservation solutions by utilizing precision ag technology to define areas where alternative crops and/or conservation practices are more profitable for producers than traditional row crops.

Whether you're using your grandfather's equipment or the latest GPS technology, just starting your conservation journey, or a long-term adopter, Sarah can work with you to take an in-depth look at your fields to identify and implement solutions to turn those red acres green.
