

THE Sunrise PRICE MASTER

Simplify grain marketing.
Build a price and protect against volatility.

The Sunrise Price Master establishes the futures price component of your grain contract by combining

4 types of strategies into

one contract, with each component set to automatically execute during key times throughout the year.

THE Sunrise PRICE MASTER

DIVERSIFICATION

You already practice diversification on your farm by how you select different seed varieties, fertilizers, and crop rotations. Adding diversification within your grain marketing plan can help improve your profitability over time. Applying a variety of risk management strategies can help you take advantage of changes in the marketing environment and market biases, and adds protection against the unknown.

Sunrise PRICE MASTER

	Our committee of market professionals makes pricing decisions dynamically throughout the year, utilizing a full range of strategies and products.
	Trades true to the market by evenly pricing bushels daily during the highest historical pricing period for each commodity contract.
	Back tested over 25+ years to systematically take advantage of volatility in bull markets.
	This will be rules based technical sell signal program. We market bushels based off four sell signals and the volume of bushels sold will be determined by the number of signals hit.
